A message from our Convenor

In these uncertain times, I hope that you are able to enjoy your harp and gain solace from it. Harpists Janice Eckworth and Rebecca Root shared their arrangements of Ukrainian music on FB alongside their encouragement to harpists to donate to a relevant cause. I have asked Frances to attach a copy of the Ukrainian folk tune, 'Why Didn't You Come' (an apt title?) and the Ukrainian National Anthem to this newsletter message. If anyone has access to Ukrainian tunes, please let me know so that we can play them together in a spirit of support and harmony. Look out for HNW's 'Play for Ukraine – Harps for Harmony' Zoom session next month (date and time to be confirmed). I have sent our collective thoughts and offer of support to three Ukrainian harpists - Zoya Magomedova, Victoria Smetana, Alina Bzhezhinska Lazorkina.

HNW has had another busy month. Luke Webb introduced us to two delightful Irish tunes via Zoom. I have a feeling that we'll be seeing more of Luke in the future. We had a live playing session in Windermere and enjoyed sharing some of the wealth of tunes to which HNW is privileged to have access. The festival planning team have been very busy and we are hoping to have the programme finalised soon so that we can open booking this month. In March our tutors, Mary Dunsford and Susan Lambert, will be leading live skills workshops near Lancaster, one for elementary harpists and the other for intermediate/advanced harpists. We have a beginners' session on the same day. Later in the month we look forward to a Zoom workshop with Eira Lynn Jones. Lots of harp activity to enjoy. Best wishes. Gill Salter-Smith

Download 'Carol of the Bells' and donate to Save the Children's Ukraine Crisis Relief Fund: from Ailie Robertson

In light of this week's horrific news from Ukraine, I am offering a free download of my lever harp arrangement of the Ukrainian tune 'Carol of the Bells'. In return, please use the button on the page to donate - all donations will be sent to Save the Children's Ukraine Crisis Relief Fund. Every donation, large and small, will make a difference.

Luke Webb workshop: An Introduction to Irish Traditional Music

We have had great feedback about the workshop on the 12th February - thank you Luke, it was clearly enjoyed by all. Thanks also to all who commented, and especially to Eilean for a wonderfully detailed review - I think it covers everything very well.

'I had a very enjoyable workshop with HNW's new tutor, Irish Harper, Luke Webb, via ZOOM. I've so much wanted, for years, to get to grips with the twinkling rhythms of Irish music. Luke's fingers certainly twinkled, he demonstrated, with relaxed dexterity, the music he had planned for us. Ooooh! Those simple, repetitive notes and phrases, how effective and expert I will sound if I manage to succeed.

We started with exercises to develop independence between left and right hands while co-ordinating left and right brain. A bass line in Ostinato Pattern began with 4th A & 3rd A & Splat & 3rd A. The splat was more than a damp, it was a percussive whack on the lower strings giving a timed beat. Very effective. Then the right hand came in with, at first, one note to the bar, increasing slowly up to eight notes to the bar. This was surprisingly tricky as the right hand notes moved position around the 'splat'. We went through many variations to loosen up our brains. On to the music.

The first was the lively 'The Munster Polka'. This was fast, crotchets set to 120. However, Luke broke the piece down into manageable repeats. Taken slowly, not too bad and really enjoyable.

At this point I had to leave the session, so I was very pleased that HNW had recorded it and I was able to pick it up later. (I've watched it 3 times, each time picking up more) Back in the ZOOM - on to 'Frank's Reel'. Lots more dots per inch. Again Luke's breakdown made it easier than it first looked and loads of fun.

Thanks again to Luke for a very enjoyable morning and I do hope that we will have him back for more workshops'. Eilean Bentley

'This was SUCH a fantastic session! I learnt such a lot ... and was inspired to continue practising after the end of the workshop! Lets book him for another one later in the year! ... and for the next Harp Festival! ' - Judy Taylor

'Yes, loved it! He's so smiley too! Helped with those tricky exercises, ha ha!' Kath Wilson

'Thanks Luke, a really interesting fun morning. Loved the warm up (once I can get my head round it - gosh talk about waking up the brain!) and the two pieces, particularly the Munster Polka. Lots to think about and practice and some helpful advice about speeding up (my fingers are so slow)'. Jane Michael

'Thanks for organising the workshop yesterday. Luke was delightful and it was great to find as an elementary player that his teaching was slow and clear enough for me to get the hang of the easier piece, The Munster Polka (albeit slowly). I really enjoyed his "brain teaser" ostinato exercise too, again simple enough at the start to have a go at it. Frank's Reel was more complex, but interesting to learn about off-beat rhythms. A lively feel good factor to the whole workshop. It was a help having the music a few days in advance, and the fingering already printed - made the Polka more manageable on the day, and I wasn't madly scrabbling to write in the fingering as he was teaching.' Marian Beagan

'I have just viewed the replay from Luke's workshop. I didn't attend the live version because of my time zone, so I really appreciate having the recording.

Did I ever enjoy it! Luke's presentation was enjoyable! The pace was great and I very much enjoyed his discussion of left hand options. I don't have much Irish music repertoire, so the tunes were interesting and stretched my harping in a couple of directions that felt refreshing. It was quite timely for me to have these happy, jaunty pieces, as I have just lost a dear friend who it happens was also be a harpist. This workshop was a much-needed boost.' Phyllis Duxbury (Canada)

Sunday 27th February - HNW Playing Session

Nine members met at the Ladyholme Hall in Windermere on Sunday for a playing session. This was a new venue for us and a lovely light, spacious hall although we had to scrabble round for £1 coins to feed the heating meters! We enjoyed playing tunes from this and previous years' JaNEWary Challenges plus Shelly Fairplay's beautiful lullaby 'Seren Fach', which the HNW Committee sent out to the playing groups during lockdown. Gill also found us a Ukranian folk song to play to show our solidarity with the people there. We all enjoyed being back playing in the same room and catching up with old friends. Ann Woolley

Concert at the Liverpool Philharmonic Hall - Lauren Scott, playing alongside the LPO's principal harpist

On Thursday, 10th February, I attended an amazing concert at Liverpool Philharmonic Hall. The conductor was a lively, dynamic Russian young man called Maxim Emelyanychev, described as 'a man on springs!' He was outstanding!

An added bonus to the magic of the orchestra's music was: to see our beloved Lauren Scott, playing alongside the LPO's principal harpist, Elizabeth McNulty!!

I was so thrilled to see her, playing her part in Debussy's 'Prelude a L'apres midi d'un faune' absolutely beautifully! Intoxicating!

The second piece was Prokofiev's Violin Concerto No.2, led by a baby faced, but brilliant, Russian violinist, Aylen Pritchen. Apparently it was his debut performance with LPO in Liverpool, even though he and the Russian conductor, Maxim Emelyanychev, regularly perform together. He was incredible!

The talented violinist appeared to enjoy the enthusiastic reaction from his audience and returned to play an impromptu solo with gusto! This entertained all, including the orchestral players!

After the interval, it was Beethoven's Symphony no.7. Another impressive sound! A fitting grand finale to a fantastic evening of amazing music!

Harps out West at Egremont Farmers' Market

Last Friday, the third Friday in February, I went to Egremont Farmers' Market, in the hope that Harps Out West would be playing. I had heard a rumour that they had been experimenting with being wired for sound and there they were, on the stage with speakers and microphones, and I could hear them at the back of the hall, over the general hubbub of an indoor market.

It was so good to see and hear them again after such a long break, and, judging by the applause, I wasn't the only one appreciating their music. Janet Kennedy

The Cumbria Duo - Ed Heslam (guitar)and Jean Altshuler(harp) in concert at Threlkeld Village Hall

I spotted five HNW members among the modest-sized and well-spaced audience for Jean and Ed's concert so it was a sociable occasion as well as a real musical treat. Ed and Jean played a mix of old favourites and tunes from their new CD 'Bleckell Murry Neet'. The harmony of the two instruments, the foot tapping rhythms, the perfect timing together with tales about the source of each local piece made for a most enjoyable and uplifting evening. Gill Salter-Smith

The Cumbrian Duo's new CD of Cumbrian music, 'Bleckell Murry Neet', can now be ordered on Willowhayne Records https://willowhaynerecords.com/Product/tabid/36/rvdsfpid/the-cumbrian-duo-bleckell-murry-neet-1759/Default.aspx
